Juan de Fuca Cable
California / British Columbia Economic Summit – Leading Sponsor

Sea Breeze Power Corp. is pleased to announce that its affiliate Sea Breeze Pacific Juan de Fuca Cable, LP, has sponsored $25,000 to the inaugural Pacific Economic Summit on May 31st, where California Governor Schwarzenegger and British Columbia Premier Campbell will be meeting to promote new cross-border trade and climate change initiatives.

The Summit, which takes place in Vancouver, British Columbia, will focus on the economic relationship between British Columbia and California, particularly in the areas of clean energy technology.

The Summit will also host a series of panel discussions concerning issues on climate change, and will focus on how business communities can work together to address shared challenges and opportunities.

Sea Breeze’s Juan de Fuca Cable Project (“JDF Cable”) is the first international merchant power line approved by Canada’s National Energy Board. Connecting British Columbia’s Vancouver Island and Washington State’s Olympic Peninsula, the JDF Cable will provide increased regional grid stability and a new avenue for electricity trade between British Columbia and the west coast of the United States. The JDF Project will also encourage the development of B.C.’s vast renewable energy resources by providing another avenue for B.C. power producers to access electricity markets.

The JDF Cable will be a 550 megawatt High Voltage Direct Current (“HVDC”) Light® submarine transmission line. HVDC Light® is state-of-the-art transmission technology that eliminates the risk of oil spills and has none of the health concerns associated with fluctuating electromagnetic fields (“EMFs”).
